

Regarding cell phone plans/contracts:

Wireless providers such as cingular and verizon should not be allowed to hold costumers to contracts that they are more or less given no choice but to sign in order to purchase an affordable cell phone plan. There are no other telecommunications companies that require such a thing. Phone companies, cable companies and/or satellite providers allow the costumer to discontinue service when they chose to.

This regulation is an infringement upon our freedom as consumers and it needs to end.
